County Affairs.

The county board met at 10:15 a. m. to-day and proceeded to close up the business of the term.

The special committee reported unfavorably on the proposition to purchase 40 acres from the Trimmer estate to add to the poor farm, and suggested the repairs on the tin roof of the main building. Adopted.

Supervisor Ward offered a resolution that the sheriff shall keep a record of all fees earned, collected and not collected, for serving foreign papers and report semi-annually. Adopted.

The resolution of Supervisor A. T. Hill providing for the purchase and use of steam heating apparatus at the new county building, was adopted.

Supervisor Muncke's resolution that the county officials shall make semi-annual reports to the board, stating amount each expended for clerk hire and to whom paid, was adopted.

It was voted upon recommendation of the committee that the circuit clerk be allowed $300 with which to pay extra clerical service.

On motion of Supervisor Muncke the board voted to require the sheriff to keep an itemized account of the cost of feeding prisoners in the county jail, no bill to be paid unless itemized and accompanied by vouchers. An effort was made to have the resolution laid on the table, but it failed by a vote of 10 to 4.

A Serious Charge.

W. R. Dingman has returned to Nanticoke from Macon to which place he went last Tuesday to arrest a young man by the name of Beard. It seems that Mr. D. had made some arrangements with this young man to sell territory for the "Dingman Refrigerator." Young Beard was to receive one half of the profits. It seems that he has sold about $700 worth of territory and represented to Mr. D. that he had only sold a very small amount of territory, hence the arrest. He will have a preliminary trial before Judge Farris at Nanticoke to-day.

Town Clerk.

John R. Williams, the present efficient town clerk, is a candidate for re-election, subject to the Republican convention. Mr. Williams is an exceptionally competent man, and has filled the place two years to the entire satisfaction of everybody. He knows all about the complicated details of the office, and deserves well at the hands of the public because of duty well performed.

There will be a praise service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. A very entertaining program has been arranged for the occasion.

Letter to Constable Harris.

J. A. Jones, the painter, who went to Jefferson, Texas, to join the Frank Priest party, has written his friend, Constable Harris, a long letter descriptive of the town and country. After stating that Mr. Priest's plans for the salvation of Jefferson have all fallen through, he writes:

"I rather like Jefferson and the climate. The complexion of the people is not as dark as I had heard it was. Land is not so rich like it is in Illinois, it is stronger than it looks. It is very cheap; improved land sells for $25 to $30 per acre, improved, $35 to $45 per acre. Under the Texas homestead law you can go further west, take up a claim of 160 acres, live on it three years and the state will give you a deed. These do not amount to anything. The town has lost its charter and there are no free schools. This is no place for plasterers and bricklayers. They build wooden houses here and seal up with boards and cover the boards with mud, and then put paper on the inside. * * *

"The people have all made their gardens. Potatoes, lettuce and onions are plentiful, and the new trees are in blossom. Wheat don't grow. Cotton and corn do best. Corn is now selling at 90 cents and never gets lower than 75 cents a bushel. People sometimes grow up to 100, by planting first in February and again in October. * * *

"We have lots of poor white and black people in Jefferson. I can't make a price for cotton bolls, and I can't make a price for corn. I have no house or poor farm. Don't need them. Butter sells at 25 to 30 cents, but chickens and eggs are higher than in Decatur. Wood sells at $2 to $2.50 a cord, and lumber at $7 to $14 per thousand."

A Sudden Summons.

Last evening shortly before 8 o'clock, John Taylor Montgomery, who has been in bad health for several years, died suddenly at his home at the corner of North Water and North streets. In company with his wife he had partaken of a hearty supper at the residence of Mrs. J. C. Carder, where the couple have been boarding for a number of years. He was then quite cheerful, as was his wont. On the way home after passing north on Water street, past the First M. E. church, John was taken with a conching spell. The cry, "This is blood," from John, was followed by an effort on his part to cling to his wife who was startled beyond expression and did what she could to support him. She called for help and a woman and three young men who were passing came to her aid. John groined slightly and became unconscious. In this condition he was borne to his home where he died in a few minutes and before the messenger could bring Dr. Sibley to the house. Death resulted from hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by a severe cold contracted by the deceased while he was doing stenographic work in the Hanna Bond trial at Hillsboro in 1884.

The deceased was born at Wheeling, West Virginia, in 1848 and was 39 years of age. He was a son of the late John Montgomery who died a few years ago near Elwin. James H., Charles M., Will H., and B. F. Montgomery are his brothers and Mrs. J. C. Carder and Mrs. J. M. Robinson are his sisters. He had lived in this county nearly 30 years. He received a good education and taught school successfully for many years. While teaching school he familiarized himself with the Hanna stenographic system and by practice he became an expert. He gave up his school, moved to Decatur, and soon had all the short-hand work in the courts of this judicial circuit and in the offices of attorneys he could do. Failing health forced him to give up that occupation when he opened a grocery store on North Water street. He sold the stock some time ago.

In November 1875, Lucy Hollingsworth became the wife of the deceased. She survives him. There are no children. John was a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist church, and was a high-minded, honest and genial citizen, who had hosts of friends in the community. He was a candidate for County Superintendent of schools in 1878, and was at all times a staunch Republican. His premature death is very sad, and general sorrow is expressed upon the streets and in the homes of our people. The time of the funeral will be announced to-morrow.

Catches the Mon.

The attraction at the opera house for to-morrow night will draw like a circus. The show is thus described by the Springfield Journal of the 9th:

"The entertainment given by the Ida Siddons Entertainers company fully satisfied the large masculine audience which newly filled the opera house last night. The company contains about twenty young women, many of whom are pretty both in face and form, and Ida Siddons herself is the prettiest one of the lot. Beyond the shining exposure of shapely limbs, there was nothing immodest in the show. The specialty people are remarkably good. Frank Lester is one of the best black-face comedians that has ever appeared here. Lizzie Hall did some very clever wing dancing. Ida Siddons' skipping-rope dance was quite artistic. The southern quartette, consisting of James, Justin and Charles Bentley and Herbert St. John, did some excellent singing and their imitations of steam calliope, church organ, steamboat whistle, etc., were very realistic. The comedies, which are a mixture of serious and a rather good voice, which is about four sizes too large for her body. The Melrose sisters gave a pretty sketch and completely satisfied the audience. The horizontal bar performance of Thorpe and Castellat was very creditable. The Amazonian march by twelve young women conducted by Capt. Siddons was beautiful. The article, eliciting frequent hearty applause. The company is starting out with some stirring attractions."

STATE OF THE WABASH.

Judge Cooley Doing Well as Receiver.—Good Showing.

Receiver Thomas M. Cooley, of the Wabash lines east of Mississippi, has been called upon officially in Chicago for the purpose of ascertaining whether he was enabled to run his lines without the great deficit which had been predicted by the Gould-Dillon-Sage ring. The Receiver-Quinn says Receiver Cooley had reported to Judge Gresham that his net earnings for the month of January last were $135,000. This too, was his first month, and he had not had time to make such economic arrangements as he may do in the future. Judge Cooley was very well pleased with his progress so far, and thought he had organized as good a staff as was to be found. His treasurer's report for the week ending March 5 inst., showed a balance in bank to his credit of some $504,335, which did not look like bankruptcy. Referring to railroad business in general, Judge Cooley said that matters were dull owing to the anticipated effects of the inter-state commerce law, and would remain so for some time to come. He was waiting for several inventories and other matters from the old receivers, Humphreys and Pitt, before he could make up his first formal report to be filed in court. It may be remarked that Receiver Cooley's January report, showing a surplus of $125,000, attracted the St. Louis receivers, and led them to make a report of a large amount of net earnings of the main lines west of the Mississippi. It was this report that induced Mr. Henry Crawford to proceed to St. Louis and to take the court there to quiet the western lines of the Wabash, but not turned over to the purchasing committee until all the liabilities for floating indebtedness had been paid. It was then that the Receivers Humphreys and Pitt claimed that their so-called $700,000 net earnings were not really so, but were liable to the payment of former floating indebtedness. This Mr. Crawford, in answer to a question as to the probability of his appointment as a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and the loss his acceptance would be to the Wabash, the Judge made no reply except to say that he had four gentlemen now in the employ of the Wabash who were as well fitted as he to fill the receivership.
